Most Andorrans speak a language called Catalan. Like French and Spanish, Catalan is a Latin-based language. Visitors come to Andorra to hike or ski in the mountains, and also to shop. Most tigers live in Asian nations, including Sumatra, Burma, India, and Thailand. In these countries, tigers have faced serious threats to their survival. Poachers, or people who kill wild animals and sell the body parts, hunted tigers for profit. Historically, many people in China have used tiger bones to make medicine for muscular aches and pains.

Now, many Asian countries are arresting poachers. And many Chinese people are trying to use alternatives to tiger bones for their medicines.

In the early 1970's, 50,000 to 70,000 tigers lived in Asia. Today, only a few thousand survive in the wild. But instead of falling even lower, the number is on the rise once again. In India, for example, the numbers have increased nearly 60% since 2008. Now that's something to roar about!
